Oct. 2025 Updates

- Fix Your Content Day has been rescheduled for November!
- We're preparing plans for Spring 2025!
- Collegiate scholarship will now be included in monthly emails.

Important Dates

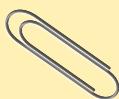

- October 8: Lunch and Learn
- October 15: New Faculty Cafe

HLC Trivia Corner

There are four criteria for accreditation, the first of which focuses on the mission. It's finer nuances are as follows:

- 1.A. Mission Alignment
- 1.B. Mission and Public Good
- 1.C. Mission and Diversity of Society

There is an increased focus on the mission across the recent revisions.

Office Open!

The CETL now has an office space! Located in room 337, the office offers access to our physical library, as well as a meeting space for small groups.

The team has also put in requests for a computer, lamp, and additional resources, so more updates will be arriving soon!

Recording Studio

The second floor (Room 241) now houses a recording studio with a teleprompter, lights, and more!

Once everything is settled, trainings will be facilitated for faculty wishing to learn about recording micro lectures and other engaging course elements!

Artificial Intelligence Meetings

Jerry Doyle is facilitating once monthly discussions with faculty and staff about all things AI! These Friday meetings occur on Zoom, during which faculty and staff can discuss:

- AI and Course Design
- AI and Current Events
- Practical Uses of AI
- And more!

We're also hosting Dr. David Wiley, Academic Fellow for AI in Education at Marshall University, next month to talk about artificial intelligence in relation to course design and assessment.

Have a burning AI question or resource request? Don't hesitate to reach out to the CETL team.

Campus Needs Survey

Thank you all so much for completing the Campus Needs Survey for Fall 2025! The CETL team met on Wednesday, September 24 to discuss responses, and the proposed draft for next semester's plans is as follows:

February
Online Course Design (with MU)

March
Publishing and Presenting Opportunities
Faculty and Staff Wellness

April
Student Panel

We'll be incorporating more scholarship and relevant articles in our monthly emails, as well.
